

SAFETY TRAINING FORKLIFT REFRESHER COURSE ON OSHA STANDARDS

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 2012 – 3:00 – 5:00 PM

PURPOSE: OSHA * The new forklift standard and training rules are now in effect. Forklift operators frequently under estimate the damage that can be caused by careless operation of their units. Death, serious injury, damage to building, damage to stock and forklift damage have all been documented on a regular basis over the years. Since operating a forklift can be hazardous, *OSHA requires that employers re-evaluate their forklift operators every 3 years. If the operator has had an accident or mishap, he must be retrained on what he did wrong. This needs to be documented. The training card must be updated at that time.

If you have completed this course and are reaching your 3 year expiration date, this is the class for you.

You must have documentation that you have completed the full training course prior to attending this refresher course.

Topics to be included but not limited to:

- Pre-Operational Inspection
- Safety & OSHA Rules
OSHA Standards 1926.602 & 1910.178
- Written Test
- Proper Operation
- Site Specific/Equipment Specific Training
- Traveling In Various Conditions
